TAX SEGREGATION PLAN OF AUDITOR

Supplemental Report Based on 1913 Assessment is Filed.

CITY LOSES $4,679.08.

Under Plan Sixty-Seven Counties and Fifteen Cities Would Gain in Revenue—Could Reduce Tax Rate.

Richmond, Nov. 10.—Supplementing his tentative plan for segregation of taxes, State Auditor C. Lee Moore has issued a revision based on the 1913 assessment, figures which were not available when he made public his tentative plan of taxation last July. A practical objection which was raised to the tentative plan when first published was that a majority of the counties of the Commonwealth suffered a loss in revenue under its actual workings. However meritorious the plan in itself, and however just it might be as a plan of taxation, it was felt that it would be hard to convince the representatives of a majority of the counties in the State that it was their duty to give up benefits to which they were not entitled, and to come in and vote for a new plan of taxation. As a matter of practical politics, therefore, it was felt in many directions that, whatever might be its merits, the plan had little chance of adoption in the form presented.

The revised figures, based on a later assessment and carefully checked and corrected, show that, if put into operation on the present basis, thirty-three counties would suffer loss, and sixty-seven would show gains in income; that four cities would suffer loss, and fifteen cities make gains. The city of Richmond, which, under the original plan, would have suffered a loss in annual income, under the revised plan of segregation, based on the 1913 assessment, would gain $188,031.81.

Alexandria will lose $4,679.08 under the latest plan.

As to the counties which on the face of the plan lose in income, Mr. Moore pointed out that, under his plan of segregation, which allows all land and property taxes to go to the counties and cities, the counties themselves could adjust their assessments to meet the new conditions. If, because of low assessment of property, rich counties like Bedford, Montgomery and Russell showed a loss, they had only to secure an assessment at something like a fair market value to obtain an increased income with a low tax rate, and, with all the tax going directly to the county instead of to the State, the incentive for a fair assessment and low rate would be greatly increased.

Elaborate statistical tables accompany the supplemental plan showing its actual working effect based on the 1913 assessment. As worked out in those tables the total of State taxes for 1913 released to counties and cities would be:

Amount of State taxes assessed on real estate—counties, $1,075,213.17; cities, $852,389.12; aggregate, $1,927,602.29.

Amount of State taxes assessed on tangible personal property—counties, $268,736.85; cities, $90,594.27; aggregate, $359,331.12.

Amount of State taxes assessed on intangible personal property—counties, $236,106.45; cities, $216,673.46; aggregate, $452,779.91.

Total of State taxes assessed on real estate, tangible and intangible personal property—counties, $1,580,056.47; cities, $1,159,656.85; aggregate, $2,739,713.32.

Losses sustained by counties and cities by taking from them the taxes on railroad property, including the tax on rolling stock distributed according to the act of 1912, and taxes on bank stock and capitation stock.

Taxes now received by counties and cities on railroad property, including tax on rolling stock as distributed by the act of 1912—counties, $1,035,260.02; cities, $371,532.81; aggregate, $1,406,792.83.

Taxes now received by counties and cities on bank stock—counties, $76,876.77; cities, $364,623.72; aggregate, $441,500.08.

Loss of capitation tax, one-third collected now returned, not to be returned under Moore plan—counties, $119,061.50; cities, $25,313.50; aggregate, $144,375.

Total amount of loss sustained by counties and cities—counties, $1,231,197.89; cities, $761,470.02; aggregate, $1,992,667.91.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Maurice Chevulard, the French aviator, made several complete aerial loops in a biplane yesterday afternoon before 10,000 spectators at Juvisy, France. After giving a wonderful aerial acrobatic performance he flew head downward and made five loops at a height of 3,500 feet, three of them consecutively.

George Tracey, in 1886 and 1887 the champion half-mile runner of America, was struck by a train and killed late Saturday night while crossing the tracks at Rockingham, Nova Scotia. He was 52 years old.

Ten thousand men are reported to be in armed revolt in Santa Clara Province, Cuba, and the government has dispatched a troop train to the scene of the riots. It is believed that the revolt is more serious than the government officials will admit. It is certain the Cuban authorities are taking steps which indicate that they epect to have a most trying situation to contend with.

Henry Brentiem, of Bremen, Ind., and his two children, Otto, ten years old, and Norman, three months old, are dead, and his wife, Mrs. Henry Brentiem, is in a serious condition, the result of the buggy in which they were riding being srtuck by a west bound Erie train at Angle Crossing, yesterday. The train was said to be running more than fifty miles an hour.

Poere Daucourt, who left Paris October 21, in the Paris-to-Cairo aeroplane race, landed at San Stefano, a western suburb of Constantinople yesterday Daucourt left Varna, Bulgaria, Friday morning and flew to Burgas. From Burgas it was his intention to fly to Constantinople, but weather conditions compelled him to land at Podima, near Midia, in European Turkey, whence he started for Constantinople yesterday. The longest flight across country made in a single day was that of Daucourt, who flew from Valenciennes to Biarritz, 530 miles, on October 27, 1912.

Endeavoring to trap blackmailers who had again demanded money from Ralph E. Bristol and Leroy Eccles, under the threats of shooting, Dave Edwards, special detective and expert gunman, from Bingham, Utah, fell on a lonely road in Ogden, early yesterday morning, his body riddled with bullets. The blackmailers had demanded that one of the four prominent men bring $1,500 to them in a satchel. Edwards was disguised in Leroy Eccles' clothing. The bandits opened fire on Edwards without warning. He returned the fire even when wounded. The bandits escaped. Edwards is now in a hospital in a serious condition.

WILL EXHIBIT DEVICE.

Virginia Mayor Going to Washington to Show New Crime-Baffling Machine.

Mayor J. E. B. Holladay, of Suffolk, Va., will go to Washington today to demonstrate before the police dpartment his invention, termed the "detecto." This is a mechanical device by which it is asserted baffling crimes may be unraveled through recording conversations of criminals. Mayor Holladay hopes to give a demonstration also at the Department of Justice.

The inventor says that he has received requests from police chiefs in a score of cities asking that he give demonstrations of the powers of the "detecto." If his device is well received he will go to New York and display his machine.

When the convention of chiefs of police was held here last summer several machines were exhibited similar in plan to that which Mr. Holladay has worked out in the "detecto." Several won the favorable mention of the heads of the police departments.

VIRGINIA'S SHARE OF PATRONAGE

Senators Martin and Swanson, Will, it is Said, Control The Same.

TO BE NO ANTAGONISM

Secretary of the Treasury Will See That Senators Are Supreme in Nominations.

The Virginia senators made their recommendations for the appointment of Peyton St. Clair, of the Ninth District, for collector of internal revenue for the Western district; R. C. L. Moncure, of Spotsylvania, for collector of the Eastern district, and Norman Hamilton, of Norfolk, for customs collector for the Virginia district, on the last day of October, and although no authoritative statement has been made either by the senators or Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo regarding the measure of approval with which their recommendations were received, enough has been learned and to form a fairly definite idea of the prospects of their appointment.

All questions of whether the "appointive powers" will accept the recommendations of the senators, representing the whole State of Virginia, or that of some of the congressmen, repesenting certain districts in the state and the leaders of the "anti- party machine" faction, has been set partly at rest by the promise given Senators Martin and Swanson by Secretary McAdoo that neither he nor President Wilson would appoint any man to the collectors' positions who is objectionable to the senators.

If either of the three men named by the senators are found by Secretary McAdoo to be objectionable for any reason, it is learned, they were told, the department will ask them to suggest someone else, or itself suggest someone for the approval of the senators. For the department to heed the wishes of some of the congressmen and nominate men objectionable to the senators would be the height of folly, as the nominees must be confirmed by the senate before they take office, and as long as they were persona non grata with the senators they could never be appointed. But President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo in making the many appointments so far have shown they have no desire to antagonize the senators, but have in every instance named men of their choice. Many of those named have been far from the wishes of some congressmen vitally interested.

So the matter seems to resolve itself into a question of whether those named by the senators are for any reason objectionable to the President and Secretary McAdoo.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Arrangements for Meeting in Lynchburg This Year.

Lynchburg, Nov. 10.—Practically every arrangement has been made for the eighth annual session of the Virginia Educational conference, which will be held this year in that city. The meetings will begin on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 26th, and will continue through Friday evening.

The indications are that the attendance will be exceptionally large, as the conference has been well advertised throughout the Commonwealth, and Lynchburg is offering peculiar inducements to the school people to come within her hospital gates.

The conference, which generally brings together twenty-five hundred or more people, is composed of four great co-ordinate organizations—the State Teachers' Association, the School Trustees' Association, the Division Superintendents' Association, and the Co-operative Education Association of Virginia. These bodies meet in general session each evening, while the morning and afternoon sessions are devoted to their departmental or special work.

ADVENT OF FRIGID WAVE.

Mild Weather of Yesterday Morning Followed by Low Temperature and Brisk Winds.

The weather yesterday was comparatively mild, and many people went to church minus overcoats. They felt the nede of them, however, before they reached home early in the afternoon, when chilly blasts were coming from the southwest with a driving rain. Conditions continued cold and threatening during the remainder of the day, and by night the mercury had taken a decided tumble, while bleak winds were moaning through the denuded trees.

The sky has been overcast most of today. Freezing weather nearly as far south as Florida, is predicted for the first few days of this week by the Weather Bureau.

"The week will open" the weekly bulletin states, "with a decided fall in temperature throughout the Atlantic States, with snow and high winds over the northern districts and in the lake regions. The line of freezing temperature will extend almost to the Georgia-Florida line, and frosts are likely in Florida down to the twenty-sixth parallel. The lower temperatures will continue during the first half of the week and will be followed by higher temperatures. In the interior temperatures will rise by Tuesday, and will be moderate during the remainder of the week, except in the Northwest where it will again become colder by the end of the week.

"With the exception of the snows Monday over the Northeastern districts, fair will prevail generally over the East and South during the week.

"A disturbance will appear about Tuesday in the extreme Northwest, and it will move southward, accompanied by rains or snows that will extend over the Northwest generally, and by rains that will reach the lake region and the great central valleys toward the end of the week. This disturbance will be followed by local snows and a considerable drop in temperature over the Northwest near the close of the week."

FIRE IN WASHINGTON.

Twenty-Eight Families Rush Into Street in Night Clothes.

Twenty-eight families living in the Melton, a four-story brick apartment house at Fourth street and New York Avenue, northwest, were evicted in their night clothing at midnight by a fire which spread so rapidliy that many persons with difficulty escaped with their lives. Two persons were cut by glass in breaking their way to safety, and one, a woman, became hysterical, and was sent to a hospital.

The escape without injury of at least a score of the tenants was due to the coolness and courage of two negro boys formerly employed in the building, who rushed into the house and operated the elevator.

Hardly any of the hundred or more tenants got out with sufficient clothing to shield them from the wintry wind that was blowing down New York Avenue, and many of them took refuge in a negro house of worship nearby. When the fire had been extinguished not an apartment was habitable. Fire Marshall Nicholson estimated the loss at $40,000. The owner of the building, Samuel W. Cockrell, said the building was insured for $55,000.

The fire was started by a glowing match that somebody left in a can of trash on the dumbwaiter.

CURRENCY BILL STILL HANGS FIRE

Administration Anxious and Endeavors to Restrain Committee.

GLASS MAKES DENIAL.

Says Senator Reed's Letter to The People of Missouri is a Misstatement of the Facts.

Washington, Nov. 10. — Stormy times are ahead for the currency bill this week. Not only is the Democratic caucus of the senate to be held on Wednesday, but the administration senators on the State Banking Committee are trying to hold the committee back from action until the caucus is held. They are seeking to shape the bill in party caucus, but if it be found that caucus methods cannot safely be followed because of too much Democratic insurgency the gathering will be called a conference and no attempt will be made to bind senators.

Trouble, too, has broken out, because Chairman Carter Glass of the House Banking and Currency Committee, who not long ago attacked Senator Hitchcock, is now assailing Senator Reed.

Mr. Glass is angry because Senator Reed wrote a letter to the "people of Missouri," in which he charged the Glass-Owen Currency bill was of Wall street origin and was "absolutely in the teeth of the Democratic policies and precedents."

This Mr. Glass bitterly denies. He declares Senator Reed's letter from beginning to end is a "misstatement of facts, either directly or by implication." He asserts the bill was not prepared in Wall street, and charges Senator Reed with having "gulped down" the Vanderlin plan.

One thing which seems to have Mr. Glass particularly sore is Senator Reed's assertion that the bill which passed the house was drawn by "H. Parker Willis, editor of the New York Journal of Commerce, generally known as a Wall street publication."

Mr. Glass says: "Every provision of the currency bill not written by me or some member of the house committee was prepared under my immediate direction after consultation with the President, Senator Owen and Secretary McAdoo; hence the attempt of Senator Reed to identify the bill with Wall street is futile. The assertion that the bill is 'in no true sense an Administration measure' is completely answered by the statement that nearly all of the fundamental features were agreed upon tentatively by the President and me at Princeton and Trenton before Mr. Wilson's inauguration; and every material alteration from the first draft was submitted to the President and his alvisers and by them approved before the bill was introduced in the House; that the president has many times publicly stated that he stands for the main features of the bill as it passed the House, having repeated this declaration in writing within the last ten days in rejecting a scheme prepared by certain Wall street bankers and approved by Senator Reed."

A TOUCH OF WINTER.

High Winds and Snow Prevail Over Extensive Area.

Extending from Chicago as far east as the Adirondacks and southward into Virginia, a snowstorm, the first severe fall of the year, raged with blizzard-like fury all yesterday and last night.

High winds swept the lake district and as far as the Atlantic coast.

The sudden drop in temperature played havoc with the snow-laden telegraph and telephone lines. For a time Pittsburgh and the Ohio lake cities were cut off from the east and south.

Railway traffic in western Pennsylvania and in the mountains of Maryland and West Virginia have been demoralized. Drifts as deep as fifteen feet are reported south of Cumberland, Md.

Suffering is reported in eastern Tennessee, where the blizzard took farmers unprepared.

Three men were killed in a wreck at Utica, N. Y., caused by the storm.

East Liverpool, O., is in darkness, and fourteen inches of snow has fallen in Zanesville.

A lineman was electrocuted repairing wires near Wheeling.

The heaviest autumn snowstorm in years is raging in the Alleghany mountains in West Virginia, Maryland and Southern Pennsylvania. Drifts are especially deep on the Western Maryland railroad.

The storm swept up from the direction of South Carolina, and Georgia, and was accompanied by a 40-mile wind, which helped to tie up railroads, trolley lines, and other means of transportation throughout the western sections of the States.

The cold wave struck New York last night and the weather bureau predicts a fall of snow in that city tonight.

The storm, which has been sweeping over Virginia, is headed for the sea, and storm warnings have been ordered displayed along the coast.

LEAVE ON SEALED ORDERS.

Bound Ostensibly to Pensacola, but Destination Believed to be Vera Cruz.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 10.—With two three-pound rapid firing guns mounted on their fore and afte decks and over 2,000 rounds of ammunition stored in their holds the navy tugs Patapsco and Patuxent left the Norfolk Navy-Yard yesterday for an unknown destination. The tugs are bound ostensibly to Pensacola and Key West, but everybody on board believes they will go to Mexico. The tugs had sealed orders that were not to be opened until they cleared the Virginia Capes.

PRESIDENT NOT READY FOR ACTION

Mexican Situation Still Serious and Far From Settlement.

WILSON DISPLEASED.

Anti-American Feeling Growing—Denial From White House—Awaiting Huerta's Reply.

Washington, Nov. 10.—That the Mexican situation is no nearer settlement today than it was a week ago was the information obtained today on the highest possible authority. While it is known that this governmenthas made certain representations of a strong character to President Huerta no reply has been received, and in the absence of any official formation the White House is inclined to doubt the message reported to have been given last night by President Huerta to the former diplomats.

It was stated positively that the President has no intention at the present time of sending any message to Congress regarding the Mexican controversy; that Lind has not recomended breaking off all diplomatic relations and that no time limit has been set within which Huerta must resign the presidency or accept the consequences.

Close friends of the President declare that he is displeased with the newspaper publications which tend to represent the situation as more serious than it is. These communications from this government, have had the effect of strengthening anti-American feeling and thereby embarrassing the administration here in its efforts to settle the problem by appealing to the good sense of the Mexican people.

It was said today that while the President has communicated all his actions to the foreign governments from time to time he has at this time nothing definite to communicate.

HUNTER IS KILLED.

Man Who Shot Him Endeavored Every Way Possible to Save His Life.

West Haven, Ct. Nov. 10.—After he had shot and fatally injured Chas. Gordon, a hunter and trapper, yesterday, Wm. Koch, Jr., a prosperous farmer of this town, summoned three physicians on a special train from White Hall, to attend his victim, and chartered a yacht to hurry the injured man to a hospital in an attempt to save his life. Despite the efforts made in his behalf, Gordon died before reaching the hospital.

The shooting followed a quarrel over some traps which Gordon had set on Koch's farm. Gordon received a .38 calibre revolver bullet in the back. Koch, who is detained at the house of correction, said that the shooting was accidental. He had remonstrated with Gordon about setting traps in his game preserve, he said. Gordon made a move as if to attack him, he said, and at that instant the revolver which he was holding, was discharged. Kock said he was unable to understand how the bullet entered Gordon's back.

Koch telephoned for the physicians to come to White Hall and provided the special train for them. They found Gordon's condition so desperate that the yacht was procured to rush him across Lake Champlain to a hospital, but he died on the way.

Koch's father is one of the wealthiest residents of Vermont, and owns several square miles of farm lands and camp sites along Lake Champlain.

STORM LASHES GREAT LAKES.

Blinding Snow Makes Navigation Practically Impossible.

Detroit, Mich, Nov. 10.—The most severe snow and windstorm of the present season prevailed over this section of the Great Lakes yesterday and shipping of all descriptions was forced to seek shelter at the nearest ports.

The wind attained a velocity of 46 to 48 miles an hour on shore. It was said that the velocity was greater on Lake Erie and that the blinding snowstorms made navigation practically impossible.

FUSILADE OF BOTTLES

Missiles Fly During Dance in North eastern Section of City Saturday Night

During the wee sma' hours of Saturday night considerable excitement was caused in the red light district by a row between civilians and soldiers, in a North Lee street resort, during which nature's weapons and bottles were used.

A civilian was knocked out completely, and this morning his right eye was out of commission, and a soldier appeared in the same condition. One of his companions was also nursing an injured optic

Sergeant Wilkinson and Officers Gill Young and Norbis made a descent upon the place and took charge of three civilians and three soldiers and the party were arraigned in the police court this morning Like all such mishaps, it was impossible to get at all the facts The men who came out second best could not identify their assailants, and the women of the house in which the disorder occurred seemed to be mazy in their statements

According to some of the evidence, several glassblowers entered the place and made a wanton attack upon the soldiers One witness, however, testified that the soldier who had been inhumanely treated was on the warpath early in the evening and had to be requested to leave a saloon in the neighborhood

After considerable time had been spent in attempts to analyze the case, Justice Caton imposed a fine of ten dollars upon two of the soldiers and ten dollars upon one of the civilians and dismissed the soldier with the battered face, the justice saying that if the latter was guilty of any offense, he had been sufficiently punished

Much of the time of the court was taken up relative to a raid on a disorderly house in Chicken Alley, the northeastern section of the city. A watch owned by John Taylor, colored, was stolen, and in the investigation by the police it was found that the house was frequented by a number of white men and negro women. Dinah Lewis, colored, the proprietress of the house, was sentenced to jail for six months, and Martha Myers, Bettie Mason and Sophia Lewis, all colored girls, eighteen years old, were given 3 months each in the workhouse. John Cottingham was fined $50 for furnishing the girls with beer, and three other white men, Lewis Gess, Charles Blanning and Frank Slaughter, were each fined $10 for disorderly conduct. The fines were paid.

There was an unusually large number of arrests for minor offenses since Saturday.

SCOUTS TO ERECT HOME

Troop No 1 Will Begin a House to House Campaign to Raise Funds

Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, held a meeting Friday evening at which time a committee was appointed to solicit funds for the erection of a Boy Scouts' home in this city.

The boys have one hundred dollars in hand to start with. The building will be a one-story affair, the cost to be about eighteen hundred dollars. It is purposed to have an assembly hall on one side, to be used as a gymnasium, with three rooms on the other and a hall running through the center of the building.

The campaign for funds will start November 17th, with a house-to-house canvass. The Scouts will also receive aid from the New York Scout headquarters, when the work gets underway.

The home will not only be a place for the Boy Scouts to spend pleasant evenings, but for any boy of our city who will take the Scout obligation and obey the Scouts law.

CARD OF THANKS.

Alexandria, Va., Nov. 10 1913.

Mr. Chas T. Goods, Chief of Alexandria Police Force, Alxendria, Va.

Mr. Dear Sir:—We desire to respectfully thank you and each member of your department, for the mark of respect shown our family in our great distress.

May none of your force ever be subjected to such a trial, are the prayers of

GEO. A. NOWLAND and FAMILY.

TIE CLASP FREE.

One of the niftiest bits of masculine jewelry which the New York haberdashers are showing is the Cleisonne Enamel Tie Clasp, to hold the scarf in shape on the shirt front. No sooner did the clasp get to be the rage among the swagger dressers of the Metropolis than the American Tobacco Company decided to buy a plentiful supply and give them away free to its customers.

With every pack of Omar Cigarettes one of these beautiful tie clasps is given away—while the supply lasts. But there are so many thousand Omar smokers in town you had better hurry if you want one. And every man who likes to dress well will surely want one.

REAR-END COLLISION.

Trains Come Together on Highway Bridge Early This Afternoon.

The crew of the electric train which left Washington at 12:50 this afternoon for Alexandria, upon reaching the highway bridge found the draw open and another southbound train waiting for it to be closed. Motorman Luther Beahm endeavored to bring his train to a stop, but his brakes refused to work, and his train collided with the trailer of the stationary train. The front of the motor car was considerably damaged, as was also the trailer of the train which had stopped on the bridge. Several passengers on both train were more or less hurt by flying glass, none seriously, however.

LIQUOR ISSUE IN STAUNTON.

Dry Forces In Staunton Start Petition For Election.

Staunton, Va., Nov. 10.—At a largely attended meeting of the "dry" forces, held Thursday night, it was decided to start petitions for a local option election to be held here in December. The drys express the belief that they have their voters better marshalled than ever before and think they can carry the town dry by at least two hundred majority.

Dry leaders have been quietly at work for months past and only waited for the regular fall election to be put behind them as a matter of policy. Having elected their ticket to the legislature they are now prepared to make a desperate and determined fight to once more rout the liquor forces from Staunton.

Four years ago they put Staunton dry by twenty-four votes, only to be taken two years later by 105 votes. The coming fight will decide the issue for two more years.

ELOPING STUDENT MARRIED.

Ceremony Twice Delayed, But Love Overcomes Obstacles.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 10.—Irvin Keasler and Miss Mabel Fallows, who eloped to this city last Monday, but were stopped by J. R. Keasler, of Memphis, the man's father, with the aid of the police, were married yesterday at the First Baptist parsonage by Rev. Dr. W. W. Hamilton.

The young woman came from her home in Memphis to meet Keasler here, but before she reached Lynchburg Keasler had been arrested at the instance of President Smith, of Randolph-Macon Academy, where he was a student. He was detained at police headquarters until his father's arrival, when it developed that opposition lay chiefly in the fact that the prospective bride had been divorced.

The father, however, yielded, and then another delay became necessary to secure evidence of the divorce.

MASKED GIRLS BEAT A MAN.

Says he Can't Imagine Why They Assail Him on Bridge.

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 10.—Stephen Gabut, a well known young business man, was stopped by two girls on a bridge here early Thursday as he was homeward bound.

They were masked, and without uttering a word, jumped at him and struck him on the head and shoulders with slingshot until several pedestrians ran to the scene, whereupon the girls disappeared.

Gabut was badly cut and bruised, and is mystified as to why he was assaulted.

The younger brother, Leon, is to be tried for complicity in the murder.

WILL CONTEST ELECTION.

Citizens' Party Managers Bring Charges of Irregularities in Norfolk City.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 10. — Alleging fraud and irregularities in precincts in Adams and Jefferson Wards, the Citizens' party managers, through their attorney, J. W. Heath, have served notice of Walter H. Taylor, counsel for James V. Trehy, that they intend contesting the election of Trehy, who defeated Robert W. Peatross for clerk of the Corporation Court in Tuesday's election by a majority of 100.

The Citizens' Party manager declined to specify what was meant by "fraudulent irregularities" and refused to divulge the nature of their evidence. It was apparent, however, that even they did not believe they had a strong case. They hope to show that the law requiring voters to remain forty feet from the polls was violated.

Some of the Citizens' Party candidates who were elected Tuesday by small majorities, including J. Bunyan Jones, are reported to have opposed contesting the election of Trehy. It is believed that if the contest is really gone into it will result in the entire election being probed, which, on such technical charges as violating the forty-foot law, might result in the loss of one, and, perhaps, two officers to the Citizens' Party.

There was considerable complaint about voting in Duke street precinct, where J. B. Jones resides, and in Brambleton, and her hotbed of Citizens' Party followers in the D street precinct, thirty-one voters were left in the line when the polls closed. Most of these voters were organization men.

The notice of contest must be filed by next Friday.

DR. THOMAS B. AMISS DEAD.

Luray, Va., Nov. 10.—Dr. Thomas B. Amiss, aged 75, one of the most widely known physicians in the Valley of Virginia, died at his home here yesterday.

He served with distinction as a surgeon throughout the war on the Confederate side. He was one of the charter members of Rosser Gibbons Camp of Confederate Veterans. He is survived by two children, Mrs. J. B. Martin, wife of the Mayor of Luray, and Fred T. Amiss, Treasurer of Page county. He was one of four brothers who were born in Rappahannock county, three of whom were physicians.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 10. —Antonio Mailoni, 20 years old, who was accused of having stabbed Isaac Randolph, colored, with a pocket knife, last Friday night, now faces a charge of murder. Randolph died from his wounds Thursday afternoon at the City Hospital. Mialoni, who was awaiting trial on the charge of assault, was arrested by Bicycle Policemen Thurman and Leiss and locked up at the Second Police Station.

Mailoni is said to have set a dog after the negro, and the latter kicked the animal, which resulted in the stabbing. The cutting took place in a short street, between Main and Cary. Mialoni is said to have been in the habit of setting his dog after people.

"THE GRAND OLD MAN OF SCIENCE."

Alfred Russell Wallace, who died Saturday at the age of 91 years, has often been called the co-discoverer with Charles Darwin of the evolutionary thory. The theory of evolution, however, is old; it was propounded more than a century ago, and had been established as a scientific tenet by Goethe and Lamarck when Darwin was in his infancy and Wallace was unborn. In fact, stockbreeders and horticulturists have been evolving new species by artificial selection since the dawn of civilization. The new and revolutionary thought introduced to the science of biology by Darwin, and simultaneously and independently by Wallace was that new species of living organisms were developed from pre existing species through natural selection and the survival of the fittest. In the struggle for existence those individuals best adapted to their environment, and most capable to resist, or to escape from hostile influences, would be more likely to leave descendants, inheriting their characteristics, while the less fit would ultimately die out.

Wallace was the author of more than 200 books, treaties and monographs. His bent toward scientific research dated back to a collection of beetles which he began as a school boy, and to complete which he made an expedition to the Amazon in 1848.

A year later he visited Sumatra and Java, and discovered that the Malay archipelago was divided into a western group of islands, which in origin are Oriental, and an eastern group are Australian. The two groups are divided by a narrow belt of sea known as 'Wallace's line" on the opposite sides of which the indigenuous animals are as widely divergent as in any two parts of the world.

Wallace became convinced of the truth of evolution and originated the theory of natural selection during these travels. His work in the development of the law of evolution supplements that of his friend Darwin, and the result is often called the Darwinian theory. He visited the United States in 1887.

ENTIRE CITY GOES TO CHURCH.

Ministers in Alexandria whose voices reverberated around empty pews yesterday will read with interest that there was a stampede in a city in a neighboring state to get into the sacred enclosures. Every house of worship was filled to its fullest capacity. In our own historic city church accommodations are and always have been far in excess of the demand. In fact we have one capacious structure which is being relegated to the owls and bats.

Almost the entire population of Joliet and Pock Springs, Ill., even the infants, altogether some 40,000 souls, we are told, celebrated 'go-to church day" yesterday by crowding every church n the city. Churches in which scarcely 100 persons ordinarily worshipped were packed to the doors.

The unusual scene of a whole city going to church was due to a three-weeks' campaign by ministers priests, evangelists and citizens of all classes. Early yesterday morning flying squads of men in auto stopped at every house in Joliet and reminded the occupants that it was "go-to-church day."

Rev. Frank D. Sheets, district superintendent of the Methodist Church spoke in Joliet Church yesterday morning, and asserted that the Methodst Church would repeat the novel experiment in every city in the United States in co-operation with other denominations.

The Catholic chuches were crowded from 7 o'clock in the morning until the last Mass. Many found it impossible to enter the Catholic churches so great was the throng. The regular services were increased by two extra Masses.

Thousands indicated their liberal views by walking from crowded churches to the nearest one which they could enter.

The newspapers yesterday morning published no local church notices in order to equalize the publicity of all Joliet churches, and attract the people to all the churches, rather than to the ones that were advertised The success of the event is attributed largely to the enthusiastic co-operation of all classes of citizens. The saloonkeepers were a big factor in the success.

YOUNG CARLIN KIDNAPPED.

Son of Representative Carried Away by Jealous Rivals.

While Charles Keith Carlin was being elected president of the freshman class of the National University of Law Saturday night vengeful spirits of the junior class were having barrels of fun with him many miles away from the scene of the election. Mr Carlin is a son of Representative C C. Carlin, of this city, and succeeds to the class office held by his father twenty-two years ago.

As Carlin alighted from an automobile in front of the college, a party of upper classmen fell upon him and carried him to another automobile, in spite of his struggles. The machine was driven at high speed to the outskirts of Rockville and Carlin was made to slight. Then the machine started off without him, after its occupants had informed him that he would have to walk back to Washington.

After a bit of this, the men in the machine finally relented, and brought young Carlin back to the city. When he reached the college he found to his delight that he had been named president of his class, in spite of his enforced absence.

Charles Keith Carlin.

But are free men to submit to such an outrage? No, not by a long shot thought Carlin's classmates, when they heard the details of the awful abduction. A plan was hastily agreed upon, and no time was lost in putting it into execution.

Outraged in their feelings, and bent on revenge, the members of the freshman class stealthily approached E W. Pierce, president of the junior class, and his pitiful cries, did not save him from the same fate visited upon Carlin. Pierce, too, was thrown into an auto, which soon was moving so swiftly toward the city's limits that to essay escape by jumping would have been foolhardy.

The speeding machine finally stopped near the Joaquin Miller cabin, in Rock Creek Park, and the hapless class president was unceremoniously dumped out. The machine turned around, dashed off into the dark, and the only good-bye message from his natural enemies which was wafted back on the breeze to Pierce was a command to "walk."

Pirce walked, and walked, and then he walked some more, and finally the comforting gleam of a street lamp told him that he was approaching civilization. Some more walking, tinctured with the thought that prominence in his class had caused to be visited upon him the wrath of the freshmen, finally brought him to his home, and glad he was to get there, you may be sure. And, bitterest thought of all, the despised first-year men had revenged the abduction of Carlin, and that with appalling swiftness and dispatch.

Carlin is the youngest member of his class, and the most youthful president ever elected in the college, being only twenty-one years old. The average age of the members of his class is twenty-eight years.

Mr. Carlin is a graduate of Randolph-Macon College of Ashland, Va., and after graduating from that institution he spent the summer in Europe perfecting his knowledge of modern European languages. He selected his father's alma mater for the study of law, and his classmates have honored him with the place in the class which his father filled nearly a quarter of a century ago.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

"These are bichloride of mercury tablets, the things that killed Joseph Levy in Brooklyn. I dare you to try them with me," said Edward Grant to William Delhanty, in Newburgh, N Y They tried them, and as a result both of them are in St. Lube's Hospital. Grant was found in a retiring room at the ferry house. Delhanty was unconscious in a hay mow. A bottle of the tablets was found by the side of Grant, who says they only took four apiece, and neither had any idea such a small number would have any serious results. The tablets have 7.6 grains of bichloride of mercury in them, and were given Grant by a friend. Physicians say the men cannot live twenty-two hours Both are paralyzed. They begged the physicians to pull them through.

Mrs. Zola Bennett yesterday told in the Criminal Superior Court in Willimantic, Conn., how she trapped Frank E. Howarth, a young attorney, charged with setting fires in Putnam, into serious admissions. She related how she obtained by means of the dictagraph,a transcript of conversations between Howarth and his alleged accomplice, Lindley Cain, Superior Court messenger, while they were confined at the Brooklyn county jail.

Four persons were buried under shattered timbers, and one was found dead last night following a gas explosion in a two-story frame dwelling occupied by the family of Joseph Teufel Woodhaven, Queens county, N. Y. The disaster is believed by the police to have resulted from the determination of Charles Holdfelder, twenty-seven, son-in-law of Mr. Teufel, to commit suicide. He was found dead in bed of asphyxiation after the explosion.

That Russia sought to avoid the arising of any incident embarrassing to either the United States of herself in notifying Secrtary Bryan that she was not willing to receive communications regarding Jews in that country was authoritatively stated here yesterday. The notification was received by Secretary Bryan through the American embassy in St. Petersburg. It was called forth by the fact that the resolution introduced in the House by Mr. Sabath, of Illinois, directing the United States to intercede with the Russian government on behalf of the Jews in connection with the ritual murder trial, came to the attention of the Czar's government. In order that it might not be necessary for the Russian government to refuse to receive a profered document, the foreign office notified the embassy in advance that the resolution could not be received.

Society is much interested in the report that another romance may spring out of the Wilson wedding. It was recalled that Dr. Gilbert Horn, one of the ushers, has been a frequent visitor at the week-end house parties at the White House and that he has paid marked attention to Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of the President. It is said that Miss Wilson first met Dr. Horax in New York where she was studying music, and that the friendship has continued ever since.

Roland B Molineux, former inmate of the death house at Sing Sing, N. Y., but finally was acquitted after retrial on the charge of slaying Miss Katherine J. Adams, with cysanide of potassium, yesterday applied for a license to wed Miss Margaret Connell, who said she was a secretary and 28 years old, Molineux is 47. The clerk refused to grant the license until Molineux produced a copy of the decree of divorce which his former wife ,Blanche Chesborough Molineux, who figured in the murder trials, obtained from him in South Dakota in 1902. After receiving the license Molineux and Miss Connell were married in the City Hall, an alderman performing the ceremony.

INDIVIDUAL PUPIL.

Aged Woman Found Burned to Crisp.

Hampton,Va., Nov. 10—With a pan of kerosene and a box of matches nearby, the body of Miss Amanda McCready, 76 years old, a well known resident of Phoebus, was found burned almost to a crisp in the back yard of her home in Mallory street, shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

That a considerable measure of mystery surounds the death of the woman is evidenced by the adjournment of the jury which Dr. Vanderslice summoned, until today, when additional evidence will be considered.

Miss McCready lived with her brother who is on the rolls of the Soldiers' Home but who does not reside in the institution. It was stated at the inquest that the brother and sister had breakfast together at about 5:30 o'clock, after which he went to the home for the day.

When the body was found the box of matches was found about four feet away and about three feet away was a pan of coal oil The woodhouse nearby was saturated with oil and even the wood in the house showed that it had been sprayed with oil.

TRAGEDY IN LUNCHROOM.

C. W. Rowzee, of Woodstock, Va., Frenzied by Alleged Attentions of J. D. Rogerson to Wife.

Washington, Nov. 10.—After stretching Joseph D. Rogerson, proprietor of a lunchroom at Fourteenth street and New York avenue, lifeless on the floor of the establishment with two shots from a 22-calibre pistol, about 8 o'clock yesteday morning, Clarence W. Rowzee sent a bullet from the same weapon into his right temple. At the Emergency Hospital it was said that Rowzee, who is from Woodstock, Va., has a chance to recover.

The tragedy is said to have grown out of attentions paid by Rogerson to Mrs. Rowzee, who has not been living with her husband for three months. A packet of letters found in Rowzee's pockets shows that the shooting was premeditated.

Rowzee, it is said, entered and found Rogerson alone behind the counter. The two men, who, at the time were companions, chatted in friendly tones for several minutes. Then two shots in rapid succession rang out, followed by a third somewhat muffled. By this time the employes had reached the front of the cafe, where they found their employer lying in a pool of blood and nearby and flat on his back, still clutching a smoking revolver, lay Rowzee, blood spurting from a wound in the right temple.

Mrs. Rogerson said that she had always lived happily with her husband and that there was no trouble between them.

Mrs. Rowzee refused to discuss her marital relations others than to say that she had not lived with Rowzee for three months.

DIES GRIEVING FOR TRAGEDY.

Mother of Slain Girl Expires After a Few Weeks.

Bedford, Pa., Nov. 10.—Brokenhearted because of the murder several weeks ago of her daughter, Miss May Turner, at New Buena Vista, this county, Mrs. Samuel Turner, aged 40, died at New Baltimore, near here Wednesday.

Mrs. Turner was the daughter of Coleman Ritchie, near Napier, and sister of Mrs. Howard Corley, at whose home Miss Turner was killed.

Howard Corley, and his young son, John Corley, are held in the county jail, charged with murder in connection with the girl's death, for a hearing Saturday. It is likely the hearing will be postponed on account of Mrs. Turner's death. The husband, a daughter, and two sons of Mrs. Turner survive.

Rich Man Staves to Death.

Salina, Kans., Nov. 10.—Daniel Killahane, who, since his wife left him, twenty years ago, has lived the life of a recluse on his farm, near here, was found dead of starvation in his home. Killahane owned one of the richest farms in the neighborhood and large herds of livestock and had a substantial bank account. He was seventy-five years old.

JAPANESE SHOT AND KILLED.

Believed to be a Victim of Chinese Tong Men.

Fresno, Cal., Nov. 10.—Yenamona, a Japanese, was shot and killed Thursday night, presumably by Chinese Tong men.

Yenamona and other Japanese were arrested in Kings county last month, charged with having killed and robbed a Chinese merchant. They were released Tuesday for lack of evidence.

When the trio came to Fresno yesterday two of them appealed to the police to be lodged in jail until they could arrange to leave the country. Yenamona, who preferred to remain at liberty, was slain within an hour.

It is feared the killing will lead to retaliatory measures and a prolonged feud between the races.
